God and Integral Ecology CIWA4120/6120 This course examines key Papal and local Church documents on our 'Common Home', through examining key Church Environmental and Ecological teachings. How these teachings are then applied to how we live in God's creation and our schools response and call to examine our own personal ecological conversion and response are explored. Pope Francis speaks of an integral ecology that sees the interconnectedness of environmental, economic, political, social, cultural, and ethical issues. Such an understanding requires a vision to think about comprehensive solutions to what is both a current and future environmental and humanitarian crisis. The course discusses a practical and modern view of ecology while based on one's own theological understanding of God's wonderful creation.	Online	SCHOOL STAFF Register by July 14 2025 on https://www.trybooking.com/CUQFR 	ATP+NTL AML ATRE AFL
Pastoral Leaders CIWA4100/6100 This is a course for leaders and aspiring leaders in Catholic schools. It aims to develop practitioners' understanding of the theological foundations of pastoral care so as to assist them in their ongoing practice of the same in the many and varied contexts within which they might find themselves. Drawing on key Scriptural texts and themes, as well as from great teachers and pastors from the Church's tradition and from the latest educational and theological research, this course will explore various models of pastoral care, its links across the tradition, and ways in which pastoral care can be offered in various contemporary situations and contexts. Students will develop essential tools to examine the Catholic theological principles of pastoral care and utilize both the knowledge and the tools to critically analyze the various conceptions of care and pastoral care that pervade current trends in educational research and praxis. The course also provides leaders with opportunities to probe School and CEWA procedures related to pastoral care and how this affects the spiritual health of a school community.	Online	SCHOOL STAFF Register by July 14 2025 on https://www.trybooking.com/CUQHB 	ATP+NTL AML ATRE AFL
